The Henry Surtees Foundation

Souvenir Edition

The Opening

Proud moments for us as John Surtees opens the Gallery and I show him a photograph of Dad driving his 'C' Type in the Isle of Man.

The Gallery

John Surtees reflects as the Swift brothers look on in awe.

Do I detect some nerves? Martin and Lizzie Jordon of Jarrots as their work is inspected

Classic Jaguar expert, Jeremy Wade and bank manager, Paul Stokes inspect the sportscar section Maurizio Severgnini of Hoover-Candy ponders Stirling Moss at Monaco.

John Surtees, Fangio and Gonzalez - Fitting Company.

The Henry Surtees Foundation

Diane Buckley and Helen Stubbs exchanged Swift Electrical duties to look after the raffle and bookstall which raised over £500 on the day. Who could say no?

Below Right: Derek Redfern of the Henry Surtees Foundation was an equally persuasive negotiator. Whilst mother and daughter Doctors, Mary and Kate McCarthy show their usual keen interest in finding a good deal.

Lunch is Served

Master model maker, Tim Dyke holds court. Again.

Chief Mechanic Bill Durrant twists my arm, a technique perfected by financial experts brb.

No white goods discussion today: Malcolm Scott, Michael Steinle and Keith Smith take a break from the day job.

Terry Reynolds of Indesit and David Gaskell of Swift show how hard it is in the white goods sector.

interesting

from our

A team effort

We are confident that if our latest landscape assistant can dig as quickly as he rides and drives, we could rapidly transform this area.

The beautiful Acer Japonicum planted by John Surtees will stand as a reminder of a very special visitor indeed.

Our thanks to everyone who made this day possible, in particular our team at Swift Electrical: Jamie, Jonathan, Terry, Diane, Vicky, Saran, Helen, Adrian, Malcolm, Neil and Gary. Builders (and now gardeners!), Dave Butler and Ian Plimbley, Printer Anthony Phillips, JRB Electrical Services, Caterers Richard Astbury and Dave Goodwin, Neil Hulse and Adrian Eyres for the photography and Phil Holtom of Towergate Insurance. And, of course my long suffering and much better half, Yvonne

A special thanks to Sharon Bowness at the Henry Surtees Foundation for her patience and help.

A sincere thanks to you all for supporting the event.
